Line Dancing 101

Welcome to Country Line Dancing 101, hosted by RB enterprises, LLC.

In this class, you will learn the basic moves of the high-low, turnaround dance. This dance is phenomenal! So phenomenal in fact, that there has yet to be music of sufficient quality to accompany our moves. It is a dance that transcends music's current capabilities. We'll just have to make due.

To begin, grab a number and form a line. Alternate your facings such that the first two people in line begin left shoulder to left shoulder.

Those facing the front of the room are the "highs." Those facing the back of the room are the "lows."

While you will be facing different directions, the person to your right is your partner. Turning only your head, exchange pleasantries with your partner (wink), and show them your number. If the "low" person does not have the lower of the two numbers, then exchange numbers with your partner. That is, "low's" should have the lower of the two numbers, and "high's" should have the higher of the two numbers. If the numbers are equal, shout a bit "Yee-Haw!"

After the exchange, each person claps twice and turns 180° around and prepare for the next exchange.

End persons will not have partners at times. In the event that you find yourself without a partner, shout a big "Haw-Yee!" (It's not crucial to the dance, but it does give you something to do.)
